

National Journalism Awards 2011

In association with RESOLUTION
P R O P E R T Y

CALL FOR ENTRIES

Closing Date: 5.30pm, Wednesday 7 September 2011

“The pages of our national press regularly carry news and feature stories that have been led by specialist journalists in print and online representing this country’s thriving business to business sector.

“Nowhere is this more prolific than in the architecture, building and property sectors, where many of the most respected and established magazines in the country continue to make the running with the best editorial talent on a daily, weekly and monthly basis, both on the page and on line.

“The IBP Journalism Awards established in 1975 continue, with the support of industry sponsors, to recognize and reward the work of individual journalists who contribute and make those magazines great. By entering you’re pitting yourself against the best in the business.

“I hope you will join us this year and wish you the very best of luck with your entries.”

- Journalists may enter as many categories as they wish, although the same articles cannot be submitted for more than one category.
- Only one entry consisting of three articles is allowed per category.
- Each category entry must be accompanied by a completed entry form and three different articles/news stories (one set of originals and three photocopies, four sets in total) published in the year ending 31 August 2011. One of the three articles in the categories listed on the entry form can be an online published story.
- PLEASE NOTE THAT EACH OF THE FOUR SETS OF THREE ARTICLES MUST HAVE A COPY OF THE ENTRY FORM AND A STATEMENT, WHERE APPLICABLE, ATTACHED.
- If the articles are not by-lined, confirmation of authorship from the editor should be attached.
- All articles in each category must relate to the architecture, civil engineering, construction, commercial property and housing/residential sectors.
- Articles published in house journals/newsletters etc are not eligible.

Group entries

- For any category (except Magazine of the Year) a portfolio of three articles by more than one journalist from one magazine or website publication may be submitted. Each article must be by-lined by two or more journalists and the names of at least two journalists must be common to not less than two articles, although not necessarily in the same combination.

Sustainable Construction Writer of the Year

- Entries in this category seek to encourage journalists to enter their best work on any or all elements of environmental, social and economic sustainability in the built environment – writing about all stages of a project from feasibility to completion and taking in economics, masterplanning, landscape architecture, architecture, engineering, and all types of project from infrastructure, environmental remediation and waste management to energy, buildings and urban regeneration.

Conditions of Entry contd

News Reporter of the Year

- Entries for this category should be accompanied by an explanation of no more than two hundred words giving the background to the three articles submitted. For example, you may wish to explain that the story was an 'exclusive' or that the degree of research or teamwork required to produce the story was of particular merit.

Feature Writer of the Year

- Entries for this category should be accompanied by an explanation of no more than two hundred words outlining the three articles relevance to current issues in the construction/property industry. This category also allows for a series of articles (no more than three) on the same subject over two or more issues of a publication.

Housing & Residential Property Journalist of the Year

- This category seeks to recognize journalists writing about the process of all forms of housing development including policy, land, design and reconstruction and/or sales, marketing and management issues for all forms of residential property.
- The category also seeks to explore and capture all aspects of the energy debate in both new and existing housing stock designed, built and refurbished in the UK.
- You can submit articles on a mix of subjects or three articles on either housing or residential property topics.

Young Journalist of the Year

- While this category has an age limit of 25 years or under, with no more than two years experience in the sectors covered by the Awards to the year ending 27 August 2011, (verified by a letter from your editor), entries should demonstrate good research, investigative style and bold subjects representative of the built environment across all the Award categories.

Magazine of the Year

- The Magazine Award categories (both weekly and non-weekly) seek to recognize the importance of editorial team effort in producing high quality publications for every sector of the construction, property and architecture industries, during the year ending 31 August 2011. Commercial and membership subscription magazines are eligible. For both magazine categories.
- The weekly and non-weekly categories specifically encourages entries from specialist publications which are published weekly (weekly category only) monthly, quarterly or produced 6 or 10 times (non-weekly category only) during the year ending 31 August 2011.
- In both categories the editor should prepare a statement clearly outlining why he/she believes the magazine has substantially covered the market sector during the year ending 31 August 2011 with investigative reporting, features and news stories.
- To support the above the editor should select any three issues, (four copies of each issue) covering the period year ending 31 August 2011 which should demonstrate use of research, choice of subject, photography, design and layout.

IBP Journalist of the Year

- This Award will be judged from the winning entries in the individual Journalist/Writer of the Year categories.

Hints & tips in preparing your entry

To assist you to make the most of your entries and reduce the need for revision or unnecessary explanation to the judges here are some simple tips to help you prepare your entry.

- Make sure you include the category you are entering on the entry form. If you supply a fly sheet to your entries this may become detached in the reading process, the judges do separate articles in the final judging stage. However, judges are requested to keep entry forms and articles together at all times.
- Do not staple or bind your three articles.
- If you wish to present your entry as one complete document (this is recommended) then please staple (do not bind) ALL three articles, with your entry form on top, together.
- Four sets of three articles each set with an entry form attached on the top.
- One of the four sets of three articles should be an original set to ensure the best reproductive quality for the final judging session (articles are reproduced) and the Awards presentation PowerPoint. While this is not mandatory this will help present your work in the best possible light at all stages.
- The judges are all knowledgeable in their field, but may not have an intimate understanding of a particular subject or story line that you have written about and entered. While it is not mandatory, in every category, you are welcome to include no more than 200 words of explanation of any or all of your articles, as it always helps to put an article(s) into proper context.
